What's right?

There are a number of things to consider with your young persons next step :

- Something they enjoy – they are investing time and effort
- whether it's right for their career path – check with employers and professional organisations
- location – city or rural, transport links
- a study and assessment style that suits them
- environment including extracurricular, clubs, and societies
- finances

Choosing the right place

- Style – from traditional, with a focus on subject-based courses and research, to modern universities/colleges, with a greater focus on vocational courses.
- Location – some are in large cities, others in small towns, by the coast or in the countryside – it's all a major influence on the environment and lifestyle.
- Size – larger universities can have more than 20,000 students, whereas some of the smallest have only a few thousand.
- Culture and facilities – influenced by a range of factors, including the diversity of students who attend.
- What graduates do – all universities collect destination statistics; it can be useful to find out what jobs or further study students go on to.
- Tuition fees – can vary between universities and colleges; check if there are scholarships or bursaries available.
- Living costs – accommodation, transport, and food can vary enormously.

Choosing the right course

- What does the course cover?
- Courses with the same title may be very different.
- Look carefully at the core course content, and the range of optional studies/modules available.
- Which modules are the most interesting and relevant to your career aspirations?
- See if the course or university/college offers any internship, placement, or study abroad opportunities.
- How is the course taught – structured teaching, or more independent research? How many lectures are there, and how much group work will be done in seminars?
- How is the course assessed?
